Our programs are stunningly affordable! Many of our programs are exchange agreements that allow you to enroll in great universities overseas for the approximate price of your education at UNCG. When our faculty develop summer and short-term programs for students, they keep affordability in mind. In most cases, UNCG financial aid can apply towards your program, as well as external scholarships and grants that are just for studying abroad. You will be advised on additional costs that are not included in the program fees (for example, passport, insurance, visa and airfare). IPC typically awards travel grants for UNCG programs of a month or longer to help offset some of these costs.

Eligibility is open to sophomores, juniors, seniors and graduate students. Your major will greatly determine the best time for you to study abroad so talk with your departmental advisor today.

WHAT STUDENTS SAY

They started talking and they just can’t stop!

“Since studying abroad, I have a new appreciation for my own culture. I’ve become even more independent and am able to see things differently, which helps me to connect with others in a new way.”

- English major in Denmark

“I had to go past my comfort zone in many ways while studying abroad. I had to travel and communicate on my own. I had to decide what I wanted out of my experience, which turned out to be new friendships and exploring a new and unique culture.”

- Education major in Chile

“Before I went abroad I was so unaware of the rest of the world and the conditions that other people live in. I am so grateful for my opportunity to study abroad as it has given me a new perspective for my future goals as a sociologist.”

- Sociology major in South Africa
